

Bonus providing and coverage obligations

This document is an integral part of the Client's agreement and other policies provided to the users at the Policies section of the website.

1. Definitions:

1.1. Bonuses or bonus values are trading values owned by the company that are credited to the client's real trading account at the individual request of the client;

1.2. Bonus coverage is a mandatory condition for covering accrued bonus funds according to the formula  $X$  trading lots per  $X$  quantity of the provided bonus value. Bonus coverage is the number of performed trades on a trading account measured in trading volumes (lots);

1.3. The period of the coverage is a mandatory condition for covering accrued bonuses measuring in calendar days set for covering and releasing off bonus values and crediting them to the client's funds balance;

1.4. Releasing bonuses is a condition under which bonus funds on the client's account are considered as covered and can be transferred to the client's current funds balance;

1.5. The tradable bonus is a type of bonus that can be used in the client's trading from the moment of accrual and can be used, for example, as margin value for opening trades and/or margin support. In this case, the client's funds are used in trading first and if the client's available funds balance is exhausted, bonus funds can be used to maintain margin and/or opening new trades. If trades are closed below the level of the client's own funds it means that only the earlier provided bonus remains on the account and the client is not entitled to claim it as client's own funds, except the situation when the conditions for coverage are met.
